

Fall fair ready to fly

Preparations are all but complete for the 124th edition of the Haliburton County Fair. The annual event is scheduled to take place this weekend at the Minden Fair Grounds, August 19, 20 and 21.

The Minden Agricultural Society, sponsors of the fair, have introduced a number of new attractions this year, while maintaining the familiar flavour of "the friendly fair", as the group's slogan states.

Society president Mary Jane Irwin noted that the Western Horse Show, slated for Saturday, has received the recognition of the Western Horse Association of Ontario. The recognition means competitors will be vying for points in a province-wide competition, as well as for local honours. "We should attract a high calibre of participants," the president said, "and the competition should be keen."

This year the Conklin Midway group, a name synonymous with carnivals in Ontario, will be providing the rides and games for the fair. Those attending can look forward to an interesting array of attractions on the midway from the Conklin people, Mary Jane suggested.

The Saturday night dance, always a highlight of the fair, this year will feature 1987 Country and Western top Canadian duo, Anita Perras and Tim

Vandalism must stop

Unless the vandalism at Minden's public washrooms can be stopped, these facilities will have to be kept closed.

Someone has been making "an awful mess" at the washrooms at the fire-hall, said Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Reeve Sinc Nesbitt. At Thursday's council meeting it was noted that people have been lighting fires in these public washrooms and messing in the wash basins.

Surprisingly, this vandalism is taking place during the day time. The washrooms are locked up each evening by the cleaners and unlocked in the morning.

All municipal staff have been alerted of this problem and will be keeping an eye out for anyone causing damage. The washrooms are located almost directly across from a children's play area.

Because of the mess being made in these facilities, few people would bother using them. Therefore, the township will keep them locked up unless the problem is soon solved.

Addition goes back to the drawing board

It will be at least another six-months before construction will begin on the chronic care wing of the Haliburton Hospital now that the plans have been sent back to the drawing board in order to have central air conditioning included.

According to Barb Dawson, Vice President of the Board of Trustees, the Ministry of Health has changed its requirements for the new wing, and is now insisting that the 18-bed facility be air conditioned.

In order to accommodate this requirement, the plans will have to be redrawn to some extent, which pushes the construction date back another six months. Construction was originally to have started this fall, but is now slated for the spring.

The plans for the addition had already received ministry approval, and tenders were to be issued in September. However, the ministry's new requirement means architects will have to redesign the building making allowances for the air conditioning system.

Minden Rockbass Fish Derby official weigh-in judge, Gordon Monk, presents Simon and Brittany Prentice with their prize for having landed the largest fish in the annual children's competition. Simon landed a nine and three-quarter inch whopper during the competition Wednesday. For more fish derby results, see page 14.

Minden gains one trustee

The Haliburton County Board of Education will have three trustees from Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships following the civic elections this November, while Dysart et al will be reduced to four trustees.

The board met again last Tuesday to deal with the issue of trustee distribution under the new Provincial Bill 125, which changes the basis of representation from assessment to population.

At an earlier meeting, the board had agreed to maintain the current number of trustees. However, there was no agreement reached on how those trustees should be distributed to represent the 10 municipalities in the county.

After that first meeting, the clerks from the three largest municipalities - Dysart, Minden and Stanhope - met to deal with this same issue. It is these three clerks who have been

Attendants commended for fine work

Two attendants with the Minden Ambulance Service have been commended for their "team approach to patient care" by the flight paramedics with Bandage

1 air ambulance.

On July 2, the air ambulance responded to a call in the Bobcaygeon area for a woman trapped under a fallen tree. En route to the call the paramedics received updates from ambulance unit 391 regarding the patient's condition.

"From the information received from attendants Randy Barras and Kirk Norris, it was apparent they were caring for a patient who was critically injured," Bryan Justice, Flight Paramedic, said in a letter to Anson, Hindon and Minden Council.

"As a result of the patient care provided prior to our arrival, we were able to expedite resuscitation efforts and transport within a matter of minutes." Justice described the assistance provided by the ambulance attendants at the scene as "invaluable". He said it "exemplified the team approach to patient care."

"Upon reflection we feel that these attendants provided commendable patient care despite extremely stressful and in some respects frustrating circumstances." Justice said he would welcome the opportunity to work with Barras and Norris again.

The Minden Horticultural Society presented its annual Flower and Vegetable competition last week at the Minden Community Centre. Despite the paucity of entries as a result of weather conditions, the show still attracted a large number of visitors and exhibitors.

Property exempt from zoning with proper fill

By hiring an engineer to examine his property, a Minden man has succeeded in having his lands removed from the designated flood plain area.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Council received a letter from its planner, Robert Lehman, commenting on the request that this property be removed from the flood plane zoning. He noted that an engineer had determined that the property on the north side of the Gull River near the sewage treatment plant can be removed from the floodplain with the proper placement of fill.

Lehman also notes in his letter that this application is a good indication that the recommended process of removing properties from the flood plain can be effective.

Designating a flood plain area along the Gull River is one of the final hurdles to be crossed before Minden will be able to finalize its comprehensive zoning bylaw. The Ministry of Natural Resources has completed the necessary mapping for this. However, there has been a great deal of concern expressed by property owners. Minden Council is yet to adopt this zoning in its bylaws.

A copy of Lehman's letter has also been forwarded to the ministry for its approval.

lake levels down to 61 per cent

On Tuesday, August 2, the water levels in Haliburton averaged 61.5 per cent about 1 per cent less than at the same date in 1987.

The decline exceeded 4 per cent in the eight preceding days which was a little more than the rate a week earlier.

Flows of the Gull, Burnt and other tributaries have been very low all week to make the supply last as long as possible. A small decline did result on the Kawartha, but rain on Thursday night (August 4) restored some of this. Haliburton seemed to get little if anything in that event.

Lake access

Robert Swanton of Kinmount raises a very interesting point with his letter to the editor (page 5) regarding the absence of access to certain lakes.

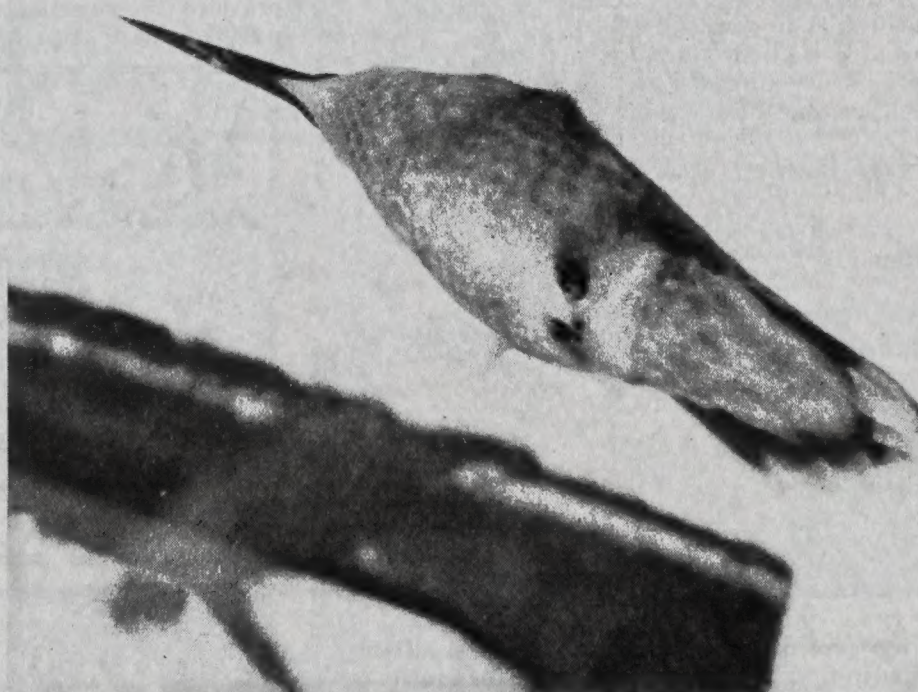

We have noted before, and are very likely to note again, our opposition to the closing off of lake access points. Now it appears the Ministry of Natural Resources is adding fuel to the fire by spending public money on a lake that even its own crews can not get to without crossing private property.

The ministry is rehabilitating a spawning shoal in Davis Lake in Lutterworth Township. In order to do this, the employees must cross private property. Mr. Swanton raises the question; if the ministry cannot reach the lake through a public access then how can anyone else?

It is the ministry's policy that access points must be maintained on every lake in the province. However, many municipalities are choosing to sell off the most useful of these to vocal cottagers who grow annoyed that their privacy is broken because they live next to public property.

What is often left to the public when these are sold off are public access points with such rugged terrain that no one can actually make use of them. In effect, the cottagers have a private lake.

We feel the ministry should be assessing whether or not there is true public access to a lake before it invests any time or money into fisheries in these lakes. And when the cottagers have harvested all the fish in their lakes, they can either spend their own money to restock the lake or open up a reasonable public access.

Spring melt in Russia

I cannot forecast to you the action of Russia. It is a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma.
Winston Churchill.

Ah, to be in Russia, now that Perestroika's there. It's early days yet but I think it's safe to say that right now there is a thaw going on in the Soviet Union the like of which has not been seen in your lifetime or mine and then some. For as long as I've been around the Soviet Union has been a hideous place. Hideous, totalitarian, and for all it's stentorian lip service to the common man, profoundly undemocratic. Now, under the influence of a single man the grotesque glacier of Sovietism seems to be melting, and if Michael Gorbachev can keep the heat on and evade the fate of Trotsky, Nasser and the Kennedys John and Robert, he may well go down in history as the supreme hero of the twentieth century.

That remains to be seen. For now it's kind of delicious to just sit back behind our bay window from the Western world and watch as Russians discover and delight in things that we've taken for granted for years.

Politics, for instance. Russians right now are reveling in what you and I yawn at during Question Period. Debates are raging, people are arguing, sending shivers and cracks through decades of political constipation. Feuds within the Communist Party itself are springing up as leaders and contenders scramble for a hitherto unimportant consideration: public support.

A Muscovite by the name of Yuri Glushko was being interviewed on my television the other night. "We've discovered politics" he gushed, "and it seems that it's better than sex."

Phew. If you want some advice from a jaded Westerner Yuri - work a little harder at your sex life.

But I suppose sooner or later the Russians have to discover that the rose of democracy comes with built-in thorns. They're discovering just that in Warsaw right now, whence cometh news of the latest Glasnostian publishing venture. It is Poland's very first official skin magazine, with the engaging title Body-Sex-Pornography. It features nude photos, explicit letters and articles on sadism and homosexuality. And it really is official - it's published by the Central Committee of the ruling Communist Party.

Welcome to the twentieth century, Poland. Maybe you'll figure out a way to deal with sleazy crap like this. We sure haven't.

As a matter of fact, you may already be a step or two ahead of us. I notice that the official Polish news agency that brought this story to my newspaper is called PAP.

Moscow too, is not immune to the more questionable aspects of Western life. Monarchy, for instance. Last month, Moscow crowned its first queen since the time of the czars.

No dunk tank but still need for support

Editor:
With all of the attending publicity and advertising which was involved for the Merchants Day, on Wednesday, August 10, featuring, I had hoped the Hyland Crest "Dunk Tank"; it is with much regret that I offer my apologies to all those people willing to volunteer their time and effort to assist me in a worthwhile fund raising event.

Due to circumstances beyond my control, the tank was unavailable and no suitable replacement was able to be obtained at the final hour. The Hyland Crest Bus Fund still lives, and all donations will be graciously received. Once again, thanks to all the volunteers and those who assisted me in attempting to make this a big event. Perhaps we can do it next year and we will make certain we will have the tank available, and so it goes.

CHACE board rebuts letter

Editor:
Further to the letter headlined, "Members abandon CHACE", in your August 8, 1988, edition of The Times, we would like to respond on behalf of the C.H.A.C.E. Inc. Board of Directors and clarify some of the misinformation contained in that letter.

It is true that the viewpoint expressed regarding the attitude and actions of this Board surfaced when an employee at our Haliburton Resource Centre was dismissed. However, all personnel matters are paper, where the Ministry of Natural Resources is going to rehabilitate the spawning shoals in Davis Lake and the money for the project is sponsored by the angler fishing licence. I wrote a letter to the District Manager condemning this project as there is no public access to the lake. Therefore, public funds are not being used for the public, but just for the Davis Lake Cottage Association.

I resent the fact that my $10 for a fishing licence is going toward something that I and all fishermen will never benefit as there is no way we can get on the lake.

An interesting note: The MNR started its project and right where they are taking their equipment into the lake there is a bar across the lane, plus a great big private property sign. if the MNR has to use priprivate property to get on the lake, I wonder how Joe public is going to.

To date I have received no reply from the District Manager of the MNR.

About the only thing Moscow Beauty '88 lacked was a Bert Parks.

Imagine: a beauty pageant in Moscow. What next - hot dogs in the Kremlin? Close. There's a MacDonalds restaurant franchise going in this year. Muscovites are already lining up to buy Coke and Pepsi, pulling the tabs ... taking a sip ... and wondering what all the fuss was about.

I believe it was Confucius who gave us that most exquisite of Chinese blessings/curses: "May you live in interesting times."

I imagine Confucius, wherever he is, is facing toward the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics these days.

Pioneer craft exhibit featured at the fair

submitted by
Stan Hill

The Minden Museum Committee is organizing the Pioneer Craft Exhibits again at the County Fair in Minden, August 20.

The Sheep to Shawl contest will feature two teams, from Huntsville and Haliburton each trying to produce a quality pioneer shawl in the shortest time. To start the competition the wool will be sheared from the sheep at the fairgrounds. Scottish dancers will perform on the grass beside the carders, spinners and weavers to heighten the country atmosphere and Don Grozelle will be milking a goat for the interest of visitors.

Under the striped tents, close to the washrooms, may be found knitters, rug-hookers, spinners and candle-makers. Crafts people in pioneer garb will demonstrate caning, butter-making, pottery, stained glass and nature-dyeing.

The museum committee will have newly acquired heritage pictures on exhibit and will serve refreshments with old-fashioned cookies, while the visitors relax a moment.

Murray Robertson will be pleased to demonstrate the features of his model T Ford truck and entertain you with music of the 50's from his pre-Wurlitzer record player.

See you under the striped tents for a trip to life in the "good old days".

The entire front wheel of this car was ripped away when it was involved in an accident with a motorcycle on August 7 on Highway 121 south of Minden. Ruth Travers was the driver of the car. She also sustained injuries and was taken to hospital.

Major injuries result when bike, car crash

A 41-year-old Kinmount man was transferred to St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto after he was seriously injured when his motorcycle collided with a car on August 7.

Gerrit Schuitemaker was driving his 1981 Honda motorcycle south-bound on Highway 121 when he apparently lost control and struck a car driven by Ruth Travers of Minden. Travers was also injured in the accident and was taken to Minden hospital.

The accident happened shortly before 4 p.m. a few miles south of Highway 35. OPP Constable Wayne Smith is investigating and charges are pending.

Brady Lake cottagers want road repaired

The use of calcium chloride in place of oil is partly to blame for some of the "washboarding" on area roads, says the Anson, Hindon and Minden Roads Superintendent.

Responding to a petition from a number of Brady Lake Road residents at last Thursday's council meeting, Clayton Cameron said the calcium just will not hold the gravel down as well as the oil did.

The Ministry of the Environment outlawed the use of crank-case oil as a dust suppressant late last year. As an alternative, most municipalities are using calcium. Some, such as Dysart et al, are experimenting with different types of oil that meet with ministry approval.

The petition from Brady Lake residents complained that the road is in "deplorable condition" and grading provides only a few days of relief. The letter, written by Jim and Jane Crosbie, was signed by a number of their neighbours. Accompanying the signatures are comments such as "This road is terrible", "My daughter's car's undercarriage was damaged and had to be towed to Toronto due to road condition", and "two muffler systems in one year on both our vehicles is absolutely disgusting."

Cameron told council that this road is graded as often as any other in the municipality. More and more money is being spent on road maintenance each year. However, the roads are also seeing an increasing traffic load.

Earlier in the meeting, Cameron had been asked if he would evaluate the effectiveness of calcium as compared to oil for consideration when deciding on what method should be used for next summer.

Survey is requested

Stanhope Township Council is requesting a site survey to determine if a gate installed by Buttermilk Falls is on private or public property.

At last Wednesday's meeting, council learned that a gate has been installed to stop traffic from travelling down to an area commonly used as a park. There is a public portage through the area, as well as an original allowance for road along the river. However, it is uncertain whether the gate itself is on public or private property.

Dump fires

In other business at Wednesday's meeting, council heard that the fire department is still responding to numerous fires being set at the dumps.

Fire Chief Bob Nangle explained that the situation is still quite bad. As is the situation at most unattended dumps in the county, people set fire to the rubbish and then leave the site. This poses the danger of fire spreading outside of the dump site, which is of magnified concern under the dry conditions this summer.

Hustlers up two

On Tuesday, August 9, the best of five play-off series opened between the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers and the Haliburton Warriors.

In the first inning Bob Johnson scored on a home run by Colin Newell to give the Hustlers a 2 - 0 lead.

In their half of the first - Haliburton scored on a double by 'Red' Nicholls, who subsequently scored to tie the game. That was all the runs that Hustler pitcher, Brian Shaw, was to allow the Warriors as the Hustlers went on to score 12 more runs.

A double in the third by Greg Newell scored Colin Newell and Dwight Sisson. Barry Shaw scored Newell to bring the score to 5 - 2.

The Hustlers got two more in the fourth, Colin Newell got his second homer of the game in the sixth and brother Greg scored to bring the score to 9 - 2.

Brian Shaw had a one-hit pitching performance, striking out nine batters.

The Rockcliffe team now has a commanding two-game lead in the series, the next game goes Tuesday in Haliburton and back home Thursday if necessary.

Little Hawk lake fishery prospers with CFID help

The Friends of Little Hawk Lake, a private cottagers association, have completed a Ministry of Natural Resources' Community Fisheries Involvement Program (CFIP) geared to enhance a lake trout spawning area in Little Hawk Lake.

In the fall of 1987, utilizing Sport Fish Licence revenue, the ministry located and evaluated previously unknown lake trout spawning areas in several lakes within the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre boundaries. This study indicated that the lake trout were having little success in reproducing in Little Hawk Lake. The ministry recommended that enhancement of the main spawning area by providing better quality spawning rubble could increase the potential reproductive success of the lake trout in Little Hawk Lake.

Don Stewart, a Little Hawk cottager, and coordinator for the Friends of Little Hawk, took the challenge. After consultation with the ministry, he submitted a CFIP proposal to enhance the lake trout spawning area in Little Hawk. Thirteen cottagers supplied 58 man hours to move 24 tons of rock rubble 1.5 miles across the water to the spawning area.

When the work was completed, a visual inspection of the enhanced area by the ministry concluded that the spawning area was enlarged as well as enhanced. This fall, the ministry plans to monitor the spawning area for lake trout use.

Vote is unanimous

appointed to make the recommendation to the ministry. And after testing numerous possibilities, they concluded that the best distribution of trustees would be for Dysart to have four trustees, Minden 3, and one for each of the other municipalities. Bicroft and Cardiff are the exception. They will share one trustee.

At last Tuesday's board meeting, trustees were told of what had transpired at the meeting of the clerks. And when it was put to a vote, the trustees agreed unanimously with the recommendation made by the clerks.

This recommendation will now be sent to the ministry for approval. Education Director Stuart Baker said he expects that approval will be given. However, since this is the first time the board has dealt with Bill 125, he said there could be some difference in interpretation that would cause the ministry to reject the recommendation.

For the past three years the board has been made up of 15 trustees, including one trustee who represents the separate school in Bicroft and Cardiff.

Under the new system, this will not change. The only municipalities that are affected by the change are Dysart and Minden. Minden will gain one trustee while Dysart loses one.

A very short year

Thierry Mignon

by Anne Hewitt

A year just wasn't enough for Rotary Exchange student Thierry Mignon.

The 19-year-old exchange student headed back to Liege, Belgium, last week after spending his full year in the Minden area. He says the hardest part for him as a Rotary Exchange student will be going home. "Right now I don't really want to go back," he said. "But I guess when I get there I'll be happy to be home."

When Mignon was 15 years old he decided he would someday like to take a year off and travel. After looking at several alternatives, he decided that the Rotary program would be best. Although he also listed Australia and Mexico as choices, there was never any doubt in his mind that he wanted to end up in North America.

However, he was completely unaware of what to expect when he got here. He says in Europe when you think of North America you automatically think of big cities. "When I first arrived in Minden I thought, 'What am I doing here?,' but after I got to know people, it was fine."

While he was here, Mignon travelled throughout Canada and the United States. A one-month-long Rotary trip allowed him to see the western provinces, and Rotary meetings were held throughout the province, including Ottawa. Although he enjoyed everywhere he visited, one highlight of his travels was his visit to Yellowstone Park. "We don't have that much nature in Europe," he said.

The first two months of being in Minden were the most difficult for Mignon. Not only did he have to deal with being in a place completely new to him, he also had to overcome a language barrier. Mignon studied English for six years at high school but his training was not enough for him to ease into conversations. "I knew how to put the sentences together," he said. "But my vocabulary was too small. I didn't know the words I wanted to use."

Even though the language barrier posed a problem at the beginning, Mignon did not have a hard time adjusting to the different culture. The biggest difference for him was in the school system. He says in Belgium a student attends classes from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. and then goes home. There is no such thing as extracurricular activities. "We are not involved with the school the way you are here," he said. "We don't have school teams, and we don't have as much contact with our teachers."

Mignon also found school in Canada to be easier than what he was used to. "I was bored in school here most of the time," he said. "A lot of things we were studying, I had already learned in Belgium."

Mignon will be starting a degree in Business Administration at the University of Liege when he returns to Belgium. He hopes to do his Masters at a Canadian university.

While he was in Minden, Mignon stayed with four different families. Even though he had to pack up his bags and change houses every few months, he enjoyed living with different people. "After a few days with your new family you really felt accepted," he said. "They make you feel a part of their lives."

The dry weather has resulted in a shortage of wild berries which is causing bears to frequent the local dumps in search of food. Watching the bears is a popular pastime in the Highlands, but people should not leave their cars or try to get close to the animals. Photo by Anne Hewitt.

A day in yesterday

Erin Lynch, grade 8 graduate of Archie Stouffer Elementary School, won first place in the Heritage Essay Contest sponsored by the County Town Museum.

by Erin Lynch

"Emily. Emily - get up!" yelled my mother's voice. I pulled the wool blanket over my head and rolled over. Grudgingly I got out of bed, my feet hitting the cold painted pine board, knowing if I didn't get up now, I'd have no time to play after chores.

I walked half asleep to the barn and got a metal pail and my milking stool. I had to milk old Betsy. This was never easy. Whenever you went to touch her she gave a great bellowing moo, which made me jump. Today it wasn't too bad. I collected the eggs and with the milk went back to the house and into the kitchen where my older sister was making a breakfast of oatmeal.

Oatmeal! I was getting so sick of oatmeal. We seemed to have it every morning. I ate it down quickly anyway. I was happy it was Saturday - no school - which meant after my chores I could do whatever I wanted. Maybe pack a lunch and go to the pond with Sarah and her brother.

Saturday also meant father would be home. Father came home for weekends and went back Sunday night to his job. He was building Highway 35. This week he got his paycheck - a whole $5 for a month of work. It wasn't as much as some folks got but, as mother said, it kept food on the table and us children clothed and not much more to spare.

I went up to my room and stripped my bed of its sheets and did the same to the other beds. Today was laundry day. Oh how I hated laundry day. It was sure hard work scrubbing the clothes and sheets and then changing the water to rinse them, then hanging them on the rope suspended between two trees. I did the laundry outside, letting the sun beat down on my face. I scrubbed those clothes so hard my knuckles felt ground off.

Finally, when I was done I went into the kitchen where mother poured me a great big glass of lemonade. I gulped it down letting the sweet but bitter liquid quench my thirst.

"Emily, wanna come to the store with me?" called Pa. "We have to buy some stuff for your Ma."

"Sure, just a second," I yelled. I ran up to my room and took the tin can out from behind my shelf and pulled out two pennies - part of my Christmas money. I got outside just in time for Dad to be hitching the horses up to the wagon. I climbed in and off we went to the Carnarvon General Store.

We pulled up in front of the Windsor and Allcorn Store. I hopped out making sure I had my two pennies. Walking into the store I immediately went to the candy counter, with the array of jars filled with candy. Finally I decided upon two pieces of red licorice and two black. I gave the man my pennies and waited for father to pay for a few pieces of garden equipment.

We went outside again and climbed into the wagon. I munched happily away while we drove home. We got home just in time for dinner. There was pork from the recently slaughtered pig, potatoes and beans from the garden and freshly baked apple pie. This was a lot better than oatmeal. I finished up, helped with the dishes and headed over to Sarah's house. While going out of our yard I grabbed an apple tree branch and pulled off a bright red apple.

When I arrived at Sarah's, she and her brother John were outside waiting for me. John already had his fishing pole in hand. We walked over to 12 Mile. John went fishing and Sarah and I talked and then had a game of tag. The sun beat down on us. It was so warm for the beginning of September that Sarah and I decided to go wading in the water, just going up to our knees, holding our skirts high.

Next thing I knew Sarah and I were furiously splashing each other, totally forgetting about holding up our skirts. We were laughing so hard and loud we disturbed John who quickly ran over to see all the commotion and then decided upon joining us. Finally we stopped and looked at ourselves. My new sun dress was muddy and wet. Mother will kill me, I thought. We all started walking back to our road with glum expressions, not knowing what lay ahead but knowing it would be bad. Maybe, I hoped, the sun would dry me and I could wipe the dirt off my dress. But it wasn't very possible because the sun was going behind a cloud.

I got home, opened the door and stepped into the kitchen where mother stood making supper. "Hello..." she stopped and gasped. "What in heaven's name happened to you?" she asked.

"Well, you see, ah," I explained to her. Stone faced she listened, her face getting all red and steam seemed to come out of her ears.

"Get up to your room and change into some dry clean clothes and there'll be no supper for you," she yelled to me as I ran to my room. I got into bed with my favourite book, "Little Women," trying to ignore the hunger pains stabbing my stomach.

Then, remembering the biscuit that was in my school bag, left over from yesterday's lunch, I ate it, savouring every bite before I pulled up my wool blanket and went to sleep.

Fly causes bus crash

A pesky fly is partly to blame for an accident involving a bus and a car on Highway 121 on July 27.

Victor Manser of Minden was driving a bus westbound on Highway 121 and while trying to swat a fly, swerved into the eastbound lane. The bus collided with an eastbound car driven by Michal O'Mara of Haliburton.

Manser has been charged with careless driving. The accident was investigated by OPP Constable Wayne Smith.

Another busy week

During the week July 25 to July 31, officers of the Minden OPP Detachment investigated 131 general occurrences and 21 traffic accidents with seven persons injured.

Single car accident

Owne Mintz, age 52, of Irondale, has been charged with driving without a licence and failing to report an accident after a single car accident on July 25 at approximately 1 a.m. on the Irondale-Gelert Road.

Mintz was rounding a curve when he lost control and rolled the car. Mintz received minor injuries in this accident.

Derby another success

The fifth annual Rock Bass Derby, held in conjunction with The Times' Annual Sidewalk Sale on Wednesday, August 10 saw Simon Prentice and Brittany Prentice of Minden win the largest fish contest with a 9 3/4" inch whopper.

Simon and Brittany were awarded a cash prize, donated by Gord Monk, for this catch.

One of the benefits of the derby is that it reduces the number of rock bass in the Gull River, allowing other fish to prosper. Stuart Elliott of Minden took first prize for catching the most fish. His total haul weighed in at an even seven pounds.

Other participants in the total weigh-in were: Simon and Brittany Prentice of Minden, 6 1/2 pounds; Brett Beach and Curtis Fielding of Minden, 6 pounds; Michael Hamilton of Minden, 5 1/2 pounds; Rebecca and Grant Wilson and David Short of Minden, 5 pounds; Jay Papineau, of Terrace Bay, 4 1/2 pounds; Michael Sikora of Oshawa, 2 1/2 pounds; Brock and Ryan Ladurantaye of Minden, 2 1/2 pounds; and Judd Campbell of Minden, 2 1/4 pounds.

The top 10 finishers in this class received merchandise prizes donated by downtown merchants.

Stuart Elliott and Jason Jong had their hands full at the end of the Rockbass Derby on Wednesday. The two landed more than six pounds of rockbass during their day of fishing in the Gull River.

Bluegrass attendance tops 5,000

Most say they'll be back

Over 5,000 people packed Glebe Centennial Park for the third annual Bluegrass Festival last weekend.

Visitors from all over North America sat and enjoyed music from over 10 different bluegrass bands. The program started Friday evening, and continued until Sunday afternoon. Over 420 campsites were filled with people who had bought a weekend pass to the event.

Chris Draper, a longtime bluegrass fan from Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, drove down for the festival. "There's a couple of bands that I'm really impressed with," he said. "If I'm around next year, I'll definitely be back!"

The popularity of the event has increased each year and organizers were pleased with the turnout on the weekend. Gerry Irish, one of the co-ordinators of the event says that increased advertising had a lot to do with the increase in attendance.

There was only trouble at one campsite throughout the event, and the security force quickly ended the problem. "The people in question were escorted from the premises, and not allowed in again," said Irish. "The rest of the campers saw that we don't put up with any nonsense, and the rest of the weekend went smoothly." A security force of 30, headed by a retired RCMP officer, was on hand to keep the crowd under control, and off duty OPP officers were hired to control traffic.

Organization for next year's festival will be underway soon, and organizers are expecting another 50 per cent increase in attendance. "Just watch us go next year," said Irish.

A relaxing atmosphere

Visitors from as far away as Nova Scotia sat and enjoyed the best in Bluegrass music from more than ten different bands. The festival, which ran from Friday evening until Sunday afternoon, attracted over 5,000 people, and organizers were thrilled with the increase in attendance over last year's festival.

Zoning is questioned

Stanhope Township Council will be contacting its solicitor for advice in regards to a complaint from a delegation of Bayshore Road residents.

At last Wednesday's meeting, a vocal group of residents of this road on Boshkung Lake complained that one of their neighbours was using his home for commercial purposes. They argued that Barry Stewart, who owns Minden Electric, is using his large garage for storage. The group contended that this use does not conform to the Shoreline Residential Zoning of the property.

To substantiate their feelings, the group provided council with a letter from a lawyer, who supported the opinion that the use is in contravention of the zoning bylaw.

Council will request an opinion from its own solicitor and advise the group of that opinion.

Many enjoy model railroaders' displays

Members of the Haliburton Model Railroader's Association delighted hundreds of interested spectators on the weekend as they mounted their first show August 6 and 7. The show, held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School gymnasium, gave onlookers an opportunity to get a close-up look at the art of model railroad building and a chance to talk with the enthusiastic club members who put the displays together.

The display prepared by the local club provided an outstanding centrepiece to the show. Of particular interest was the reconstruction of the early days of Haliburton Village complete with train station and other buildings representative of the era.

The display by the local club, constructed on a large rectangular backdrop, provided an opportunity for the visitors to see the trains operating in a variety of settings, as well as the familiar local scene.

Other clubs from the area attended the show as well, providing a variety of displays and approaches to the hobby of model railroading. Also on hand were suppliers of railroad memorabilia, material for the model builders and a number of craft displays.

While the visual aspects of the displays attracted numerous comments, visitors also had an opportunity to talk to the club members, learn how the models were constructed and the extra effort that goes into ensuring the scenes accurately reflected the era or setting both in content and scale.

Members of the local club were enthusiastic with the response from those attending the show and from the numerous exhibitors who helped fill the two gyms at the high school. Hopefully that enthusiasm will ensure the show will become an annual event on the Highlands summer calendar.

Two visiting model railroaders discuss the intricacies of one of the layouts on display at the model railroaders' show at the Haliburton high school gymnasium.

The Haliburton Village railway station forms the centrepiece for this historic tableau presented by the Haliburton Model Railroaders' Association.

Broadcast Act ends 3 years of study

by Bill Scott, M.P.

The 1988 Broadcast Act concludes a review of Canadian broadcasting policy which began over three years ago with the Caplan-Sauvageau Task Force on Broadcasting Policy. Canadian Voices: Canadian Choices, the government's new policy, can be divided into three separate but related areas: programming, fairness and access; and operations and administration. Each component identifies the specific policy and program initiatives the government is taking.

Programming

C-136 will require increased spending by private broadcasters to bring more Canadian content, especially drama, to prime time television. The CRTC will have the power to put together an incentives program in order to boost the current Canadian content of our programs. Broadcasters who choose not to increase the Canadian content of their programming would see a portion of their licence fees re-directed for use by other broadcasters who exceeded their targets. C-136 also includes provisions to create a new Alternative Programming Service in English and increased financial support for the production of programming on existing French-language services. The Minister of Communications announced that the government hopes to see a new national English-language Alternative Programming Service within the next two years.

Cable is the most commonly used method of distribution of broadcasting services but it is not the only one available. There are now subscription television systems used to distribute television services over the air, and satellite master antenna television systems serving multiple unit buildings.

This bill addresses all distribution services in the same manner, allowing them to use the technology of their choice. Cable is regulated by the CRTC and is required to give priority to Canadian programming. The CRTC will be given a range of new powers to review potential conflicts of interest and, if necessary, to require cable operators to carry specified programming services.

Fairness and access

It is essential that services be available to the public in both official languages. The CBC will be responsible for ensuring that programming will be in English and French, reflecting the different needs of each official language community.

Operations and administration

C-136 will strengthen the accountability of the CBC and at the same time guarantee its independence in programming and operations. This will be achieved through:

- Application of the arm's-length principle with respect to the journalistic, creative and programming independence;

- The tabling of the CBC's Corporate Plan Summary in the House of Commons each year by the government, thus enhancing the CBC's ability to do longer-term planning;

- The creation of two new committees of the Board, one for English-language broadcasting and one for French-language broadcasting; and

- Increasing the power of the CBC to approve property.

Although the street was not closed for the annual Sidewalk Sale, Minden's downtown was still crowded with anxious shoppers throughout the day of Wednesday. The downtown merchants provided bargains galore in their displays set out on the sidewalk and helped make another successful sale day.

County library gets support from province

The provincial government has committed $162,000 to cover the current operating expenses of the Haliburton County Library Board and the Victoria County Museum, MPP John Eakins announced.

Eakins, MPP for Victoria - Haliburton, made the announcement on behalf of Lily Munro, Minister of Culture and Communications.

The Victoria County Museum, located at 435 Kent Street West in Lindsay, will receive $2,984 to cover current operating expenses.

The Haliburton County Library Board, which operates several libraries, will receive operating funding worth $158,996. The Board will receive 80 per cent of that total now and the balance in late August, Eakins says.

Fenceviewing referee chosen

John Eakins, Minister of Municipal Affairs, has announced the appointment of Murray Walden as a deputy referee to hear appeals from awards made by municipal fenceviewers.

These awards specify how the cost of boundary fences is to be divided between adjoining property owners.

A native of Ops Township, Walden is the owner and operator of a 1,000-acre mixed beef and cash crop farm. He has been a fence-viewer for the past ten years and has served on Ops Township Minor Variance Committee.

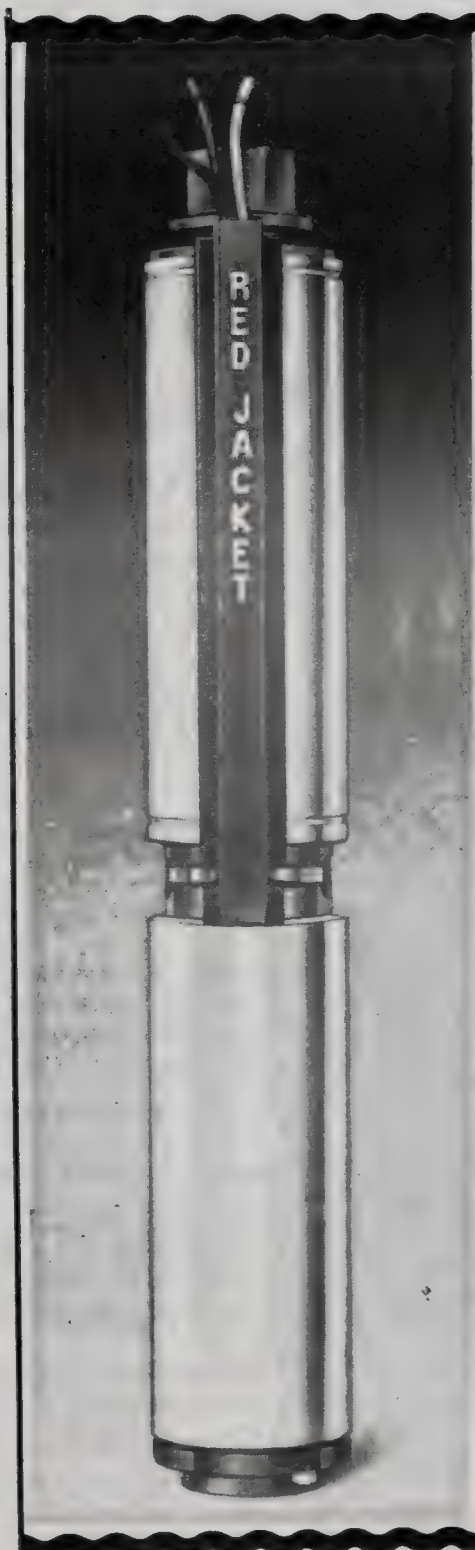

Before amendments to the Line Fences Act came into force on July 1, 1988, appeals were handled by small claims court judges.

"I believe that the appeals should be heard by people with a more specialized knowledge of fencing issues," Eakins said.

Persons appealing awards must first serve notice of appeal on the other property owner. As well, they must send the notice of appeal with a $50 fee to the local municipal clerk who submits it directly to the referee, -or indirectly through the ministry.

As a deputy referee, Mr. Walden will conduct appeal hearings, and his decision will be final.

Local Bell workers seek public support

Employees involved in the Bell Canada strike have taken their case to the streets in Minden and Haliburton.

Last week, members of the Communications and Electrical Workers of Canada from the local Bell offices distributed pamphlets on Minden's Main Street, outlining their grievances with the company and asking for the community's support for their efforts.

In the one page handbill, the strikers suggested the public could support their efforts by not crossing the picket lines, providing friendly words of encouragement when encountering striking employees, suggested Bell customers should let Bell management know the public supports their stand and voice objections for delays in service caused by the labour dispute. The hand-out also suggests customers, "maintain an interest free loan of $50 with Bell." The leaflet says that the company does not charge interest on overdue accounts of this amount.

Commenting on the suggestion, Bell spokesman Geoff Mathews said from his Toronto office, it was irresponsible for the employees to counsel people not to meet their obligations under their contract with the company. He suggested that most people readily pay their bills and, although the union suggested this tactic a number of weeks ago, there has not been a trend toward unpaid accounts under $50 in the past few weeks. He said the no interest policy had been in effect with Bell for the past couple of years. Mathews said the company would obviously be concerned if Bell customers took the union's suggestion to heart.

Noting that the employees are proud of the fact they work for a telephone system which they describe as "world class", the leaflet claims the employees' jobs are being threatened by use of outside contractors, use of temporary and part-time employees. The pamphlet also calls for protection for Bell employee wages and pensions and improved working conditions. The employees claim the company is "an extremely rich one," and could afford to meet the employee's demands.

Mathews added that union and company negotiators have held preliminary talks and are expected to begin another round of bargaining this Tuesday in Ottawa.

Lawn bowlers hold August 7 jitney

The Golden Oldies of Minden Lawn Bowling Club defied the Dog Days of August and on Sunday the 7th held a jitney. Well, I always thought a jitney was a Model T or a Radical Car that ran up Yonge St. to Bond Lake. But lo and behold it's a fun day of Lawn Bowling and fun it was!

Thirty friends gathered in the Quanset Hut on Bobcaygeon Road and split up into eight teams of deadly fighting machines. And after selecting their various weapons - 4 teams went at it and split a 'Six Pack' that threw six ends.

The the other four teams went at it. The first came back again to make it an even dozen, the second group did likewise, so each team played 12 ends. And through some clever system L. Boskett's "Angels", Phebe Shivas, Laurel Tomkins, Gladys Reid, and Cy Heal's Harem of Wanda Carter and Betty Hartman managed to tie for top honours so split the loot. Don Sinclair's "Medicares", Norm Shevas, Hazel Maxwell, Ruby Cartwright finished third and Gala Heal's Pu-pils finished 4th.

After the conflict everyone sat down to a good old Minden Pot Luck Dinner.

F.a.b.u.l.o.u.s. Then were entertained by a video of various Minden events i.e. "Ride for Sight", "Rotary Summer Day", "Kayak Fast Water Event" and others. Producer - Cy Heal, Director - Gala Heal, starring Minden's Civic Pride.

Let's do it again soon, folks.

P.S. Luv Tompkins is crying for two more golfers from the Club to fill out the September 14th Fun Day.

Board strives for professional stance

The board has endeavoured to maintain a professional stance in dealing with this situation. We acknowledge that this has angered a portion of our Haliburton members and users. We can only affirm to our membership and the community at large that the present directors of C.H.A.C.E. are committed to the goals of the agency and to eliciting the input of members in our efforts to maintain our services as a positive focus for families in Haliburton County. The Board is not always in a position to act upon all of the suggestions it receives, but we are striving to hear our membership.

Evidence of this lies in our follow-up to the General Membership Meeting that was held in direct response to a request by a group of our members. C.H.A.C.E. has struck two Ad-Hoc Committees; one to revise our now-dated Constitution and By-laws and the other to compile a more comprehensive Personnel manual. These Committees were struck in response to recommendations for action made to the Board by the members at this meeting. Another motion of recommendation made to the Board was that we increase our representation on the Board to eleven members. This too, we acted upon. The only motion to the Board which was voted down by a majority of the Board was one to reinstate the dismissed employee. The membership was never denied the right to make motions to the Board. There was, however, a request for the Chairperson's resignation which was met with considerable vocal displeasure from the majority of the members present. It is significant to note that of the 47 people in attendance at the General Membership Meeting, 38 were members / users; the rest were Board Members and staff. Twenty six of these 38 individuals were eligible voters from a potential voting pool of 225 people.

It is also crucial to clarify that at no time has the Ministry of Community and Social Services ever found this situation amusing as suggested in the letter. The Ministry has been kept abreast of this ongoing issue and has been very supportive. They too, are concerned that we get on with our ongoing service programming and continue to meet the needs of our County's families. C.H.A.C.E. apologizes for any remarks that may have been misconstrued as to infer that the Ministry views this situation as anything less than significant.

The letter also makes numerous references to Constitutional violations. We have been negligent in not posting, two weeks in advance, notice of our regularly scheduled board meetings. This was not an intentional violation and we have since posted notice of all our board meetings. Part of the conflict this organization has been experiencing is due to the inadequacy of our Constitution and By-laws to meet our needs in 1988. We hope through the revision in progress to ensure clarification of roles and responsibilities of the various parties within our organizational structure. The Constitution is the broad framework from which all agencies operate; a board then sets policies, defines staff job descriptions and ensures that the senior staff person adequately maintains the day to day operations of the organization.

In the face of any seemingly negative situation, there is always the potential for new learning and the opportunity for positive growth. We welcome any constructive suggestions from members, users of C.H.A.C.E. or any interested community individuals specific to our revision process and our goal of keeping C.H.A.C.E. healthy and strong for our families.

Hello Readers: It was a relief to see the rain, but the weather is still very warm.

Mrs. Marion Levinsky of Woodville and Mrs. Donald York of Sunderland were guests of Mrs. Verna Jarvis last week. Martha Mansfield of Minden came to call on Gertie McKay and some others here at Hyland Crest last week. One of Bert Harrison's sons came and took him out for the day on Sunday. Mrs. Kirkpatrick had some of her family to visit with her on the weekend. Anna Gordon came on Saturday and took me out for lunch. I got a surprise when we went to the restaurant; my grandson Edward Wilkinson, his wife Jan and two daughters, and a granddaughter Patricia Hughes were joining us for lunch. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron of Peterborough enjoyed the guitar playing and singing by Father Felix.

Jean Taylor and Lola Prentice have been ill recently. Lola is in Minden Hospital, and we wish her a speedy recovery. Till next week.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: An elephant always remembers but what animal always forgets?

A: An owl, because it keeps saying "who, who?"

Q: What gets harder to catch the faster you run?

A: Your breath.

Q: Why is it interesting to study mummies?

A: Because you can get wrapped up in them.

library corner

by Joel Levis

Some years ago when a number of journalists were well into their cups, the subject of the demise of the British Empire came up and it was certainly only when the concept of the "sun never sets" arose that a copy of Whitaker's Almanack was produced and it was discovered that the "sun (still) doesn't set" on the Empire!

Mind you, some of the places are rather small, populated only by sea weed and snails but they do appear on the official list of holdings (as it were) and number over 200 named islands and a thousand rocks, shoals and skerries.

But there are a number of bigger places and herein lies the tale as Simon Winchester tells in The Sun Never Sets available through the Haliburton County Public Library.

Winchester decided that he should visit these places but there had to be a few guidelines. First, there had to be a way to get there; second, there had to be people; and third, there had to be a resident Governor.

The places that he eventually visited all had tales of their own, although in more than one instance, the task of getting there was sometimes equal to the visit itself. To consider the tales themselves, let's start with Diego Garcia.

Few people have ever heard of the British Indian Ocean Territory (BIOT) and the British Government would like to keep it that way. In the mid-60's, the entire population was transported by the Labour Government to poverty in Mauritius and the land was leased to the U.S. Military. However, the British Government maintains absolute control. No one is allowed to visit unless they are invited and no one is invited. Winchester got there and was almost sent back to sea with no water and a faulty marine engine, the authorities being so anxious to keep the place quiet.

Bermuda: the airport is a U.S. Military base as well; the air traffic controllers are military and the place is crawling with U.S. aircraft including some special items referred to as Take Charge and Move Out (TACAMO) which is only one of three units in the world that will play an active role in any nuclear military junket. Yet the Island is administered by a British Governor.

Then there is Ascension Island which came to prominence with the Falklands War. While visitors are not exactly welcome, they are not treated like tourists to the BIOT. Mind you, the island is really run by the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC).

And we all know about the Falklands. Winchester was there when the problems started and shortly thereafter.

Tristan de Cunha was evacuated in the sixties when the volcano blew up; St. Helena is where Napoleon was sent in defeat; and, there are still some "Christians" on Pitcairn Island in the Pacific. Hong Kong and Gibraltar are also visited and both have their own special histories.

The book is called The Sun Never Sets by Paul Winchester. Ask for it at your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library.

New initiatives

by John Eakins, M.P.P.

This week I would like to discuss an important new initiative which will financially assist members of the public who appear before selected administration tribunals.

The bill, called the Intervenor Funding Project Act, will result in increased participation by the public in the justice system. The bill establishes a three-year pilot program to ease the financial burden of individuals or groups who appear before certain tribunals and raise issues in the public interest. Those tribunals are the Environmental Assessment Board, the Ontario Energy Board and the Joint Board, which hears applications common to both.

Under the terms of the three-year pilot project, a panel of each board, selected from among its members, would be convened to determine eligibility for pre-hearing funding for persons who have been granted intervenor status. Supplementary intervenor funding may be awarded following a hearing if circumstances warrant. Under the scheme, the proponent of the issue will be required to pay the funding unless that obligation would result in significant financial hardship. In that case, the board has the discretion to decide that the costs shall be shared by the proponent and the intervenor.

The bill would also, for the first time, give the Environmental Assessment Board the power to award costs.

The Joint Board and the Ontario Energy Board already have this power. In addition, the Bill would also broaden the discretion of these boards in awarding costs beyond the traditional court-based criteria. A review of the pilot project will also be undertaken during the three-year period.

The bill was introduced into the Ontario Legislature on Wednesday, June 29, and we are interested in receiving public input this summer, in order that an intervenor funding system can be enacted this fall.

IN MEMORIAM

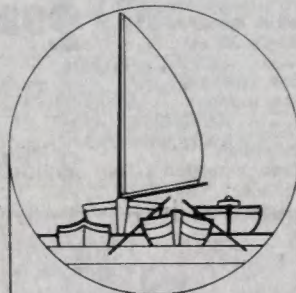

WALKER: In memory of a dear son Derek C.H. Walker who died suddenly August 5, 1978.

Things I feel most deeply
Are the hardest things to say.
Dear Derek how we miss you.
In a very special way.

There will always be a heart-ache
Sometimes a silent tear
But always the precious memories
Of the few short weeks you were near.

If I could have one lifetime wish
A dream that could come true
I'd pray to God with all my heart
For yesterday and you.

Sadly missed, never to be forgotten - Jim, Sharon and family.
